

```
print("hello world")
print("Rakshitha h s")
print("CSE")
```

```
hello world
Rakshitha h s
CSE
```

```
x=10 #integer
y=3.14 #float
name="john" #string
print(x,y,name)
print(name,'is a teacher' + name)
```

```
10 3.14 john
john is a teacherjohn
```

```
a = 10
b = 1+name
name = cat
print(a,b,name)
```

```
-----
-----
TypeError                                Traceback (most recent call last)
<ipython-input-3-db36b39b99ec> in <cell line: 2>()
      1 a = 10
----> 2 b = 1+name
      3 name = cat
      4 print(a,b,name)
```

TypeError: unsupported operand type(s) for +: 'int' and 'str'

```
print("i'm your teacher")
```

```
i'm your teacher
```

```
print("welcome to python")
THIS IS A COMMENT
```

```
welcome to python
```

user input

```
name = input("enter your name")
print(name)
```

```
enter your namemary
mary
```

add two numbers

```
a = int(input())
b = int(input())
print(a+b)
```

10

5

15